

Sample Local Trust & Calls Audit

SHOP	LOCATION	PREPARED BY	STATUS
Bay & Beacon Auto Care	East Boston, MA	Alpha Barrie	Fictional sample

CLEAREST
OPPORTUNITY

The shop may already do trustworthy work, but its online experience does not quickly show customers why they should call or what to do next.

- 01

First impression is too generic

What a customer sees: The sample before says only that the shop is trusted and provides quality service. East Boston, the repair approach, and a useful next step are missing.

Why it matters: A customer may keep comparing because the shop does not feel clearly relevant yet.

Recommended fix: The improved demo leads with East Boston, a clear service promise, Request service, and Call the shop.
- 02

Mobile contact path breaks down

What a customer sees: At 375 pixels, the sample before remains 1,080 pixels wide, forces horizontal scrolling, and keeps the phone action out of view.

Why it matters: A ready-to-book customer should not have to search for the next step.

Recommended fix: The improved demo fits the screen without overflow and keeps a large Call the shop action visible.
- 03

Trust and contact proof arrive too late

What a customer sees: The sample before has no visible review, warranty, certification, or approval process, and contact details are buried near the footer.

Why it matters: Customers must take the shop's generic claims on faith and work too hard to verify the basics.

Recommended fix: The improved demo combines labeled sample proof, a clear repair process, visible hours, and repeated contact actions.
